Francis R. ...

Ida,
 It's been great having a friend like you. I've really enjoyed going to ball games, Young Life, & just plain acting stupid with you. It's all been grand and I hope we do the same thing next year and we better have some fun this summer. I know what else. I better find me some boys, too.
 How about you?

Love,
 Harsha

Ida,
 Much success

And happiness to you (Deb)

Ida

It's been so great & wonderful knowing you. You are a dear, dear friend & I'll always cherish your friendship. Thank you so much. May God Bless you always.

Love,
 Mary

I can't tell you how much getting to know you has meant to me. We've really had a lot together this year at Watlington, ice skating, campfires & young life. You a great guy with a warm personality. Never forget the fun we've had. @ home. Have fun this summer & be good!!
 Love!
 Jerry
 P.S. See you at the wedding.

Ida,

I'll always remember my junior year in high school.
I had more fun during that year than any other mainly because we took Basic Business together. I remember how we would come to school Mondays talking about the weekend? On Fridays we would be planning for the weekend. Your charming personality and wise combine to make you the unique person that you are. I hope you will always possess the above-mentioned characteristics throughout life and never turn into a nagginggrumpy housewife. May we always remain the best of friends.
Good Luck,
Deborah R.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

T-square math provided Donald Parker and David Parker with a quick method of multiplication.

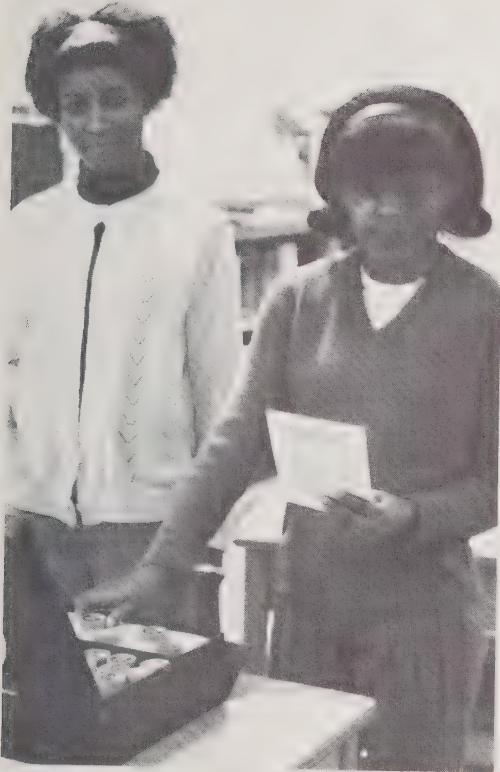

Harvey Torain found the completion of his tax forms to be one more headache of the working world.

Solving problems in the marketing class helped D.E. students in their job training.

INDUSTRIAL CO-OPERATIVE TRAINING

Kay Crisp and Patricia Stanfield study film-strip guides in order to choose the best curriculum-correlated films.

Distributive Education, a program designed to prepare the student for a career immediately after graduation, promoted business knowledge and skill, and developed leadership and responsibility. Principles of democracy were taught, and high ethical standards in business and industry were encouraged. The Industrial Co-operative Training program and Distributive Education gave students an opportunity to attend instructional and required classes a portion of the day, and then work toward their desired professional career.

Eric Brincefield introduces a film as a supplement to classroom work.

A CONSCIOUSNESS OF THE PAST AS A GUIDE TO THE FUTURE

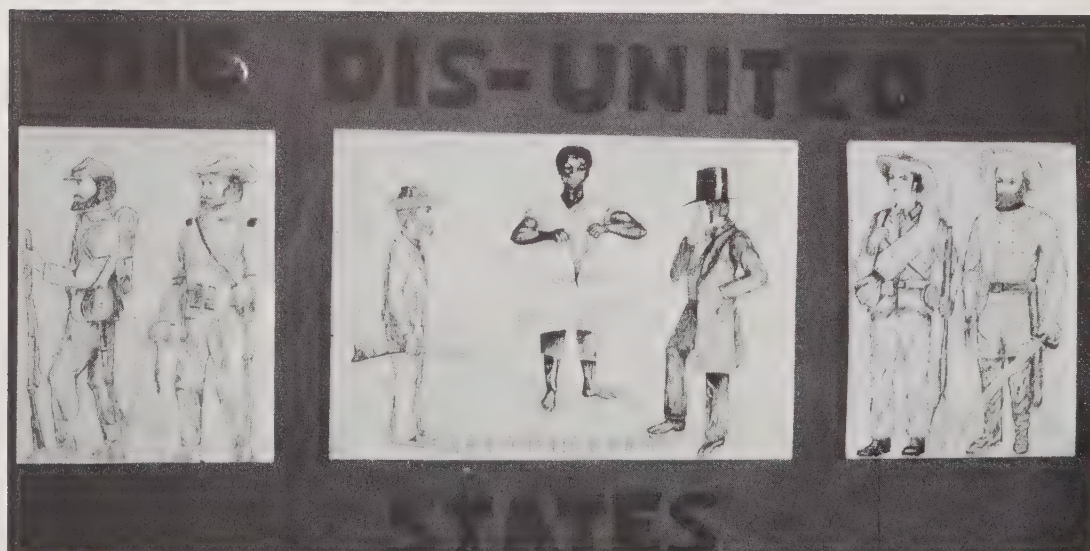

The history department sought to instill in its students a knowledge of the world, its events past and present, and an understanding of its peoples from economical, sociological, and historical viewpoints. The students had an abundance of history-related subjects to choose from, including World History, U. S. History, government, and sociology and economics. New methods of teaching were employed, including the use of transparencies on the overhead projectors. Also SENIOR SCHOLASTIC magazine was used as a guideline for the government class. The government class also added variety to their class as they journeyed to Graham Courthouse to observe trial proceedings which supplemented their classroom discussions.

World Powers were called to the attention of World History students by Teresa Graves and Ricky Liggins.

Pam Isley related the triumphs and tribulations of the mass media to the U.S. Government class.

The Civil War provided the topic for a U. S. History bulletin board.

ART — A MEANS OF EXPRESSION

Students in this department expressed complete creativity in paintings, sculpture, and etchings. The general background concerned the basic principles of design in arts and crafts, which developed the students' understanding of art.

Lawrence Massey develops steadiness by carving a Buddha from clay.

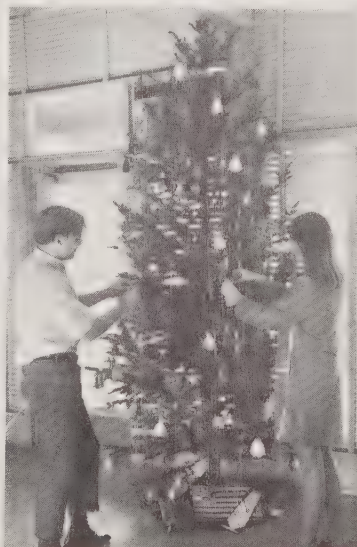

Expressions of talent were revealed through art.

Steve Quakenbush explains one of his many block prints.

A "thing of beauty" is prepared for Art Exhibit.

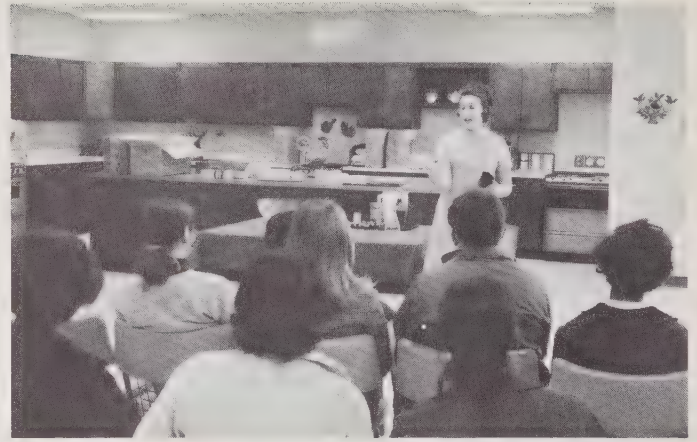

Yarn puffs adorn the office Christmas tree decorated by Mike Kueider and Lyn Hopkins.

HOME ECONOMICS— PREPARATION FOR FAMILY LIFE

Through various home economics courses students were taught the arts of managing a home and providing for their families' wants and needs. Basic skills of sewing, cooking, and child care were mastered. Home projects and dinners added interest and excitement to the classroom activities. Family life delved deeper into the problems and functions of the family itself. The boys' home economics class gave them an understanding of household duties.

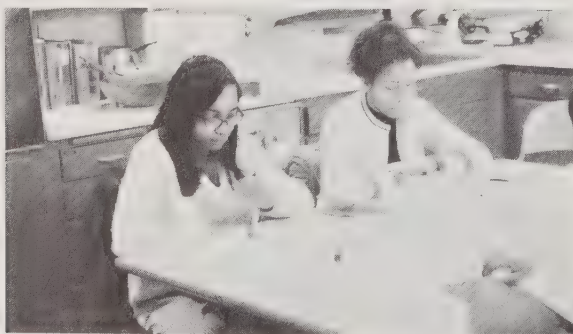

Mrs. Nancy Denny from the Public Gas Service presents an interesting demonstration on Christmas foods and decorations.

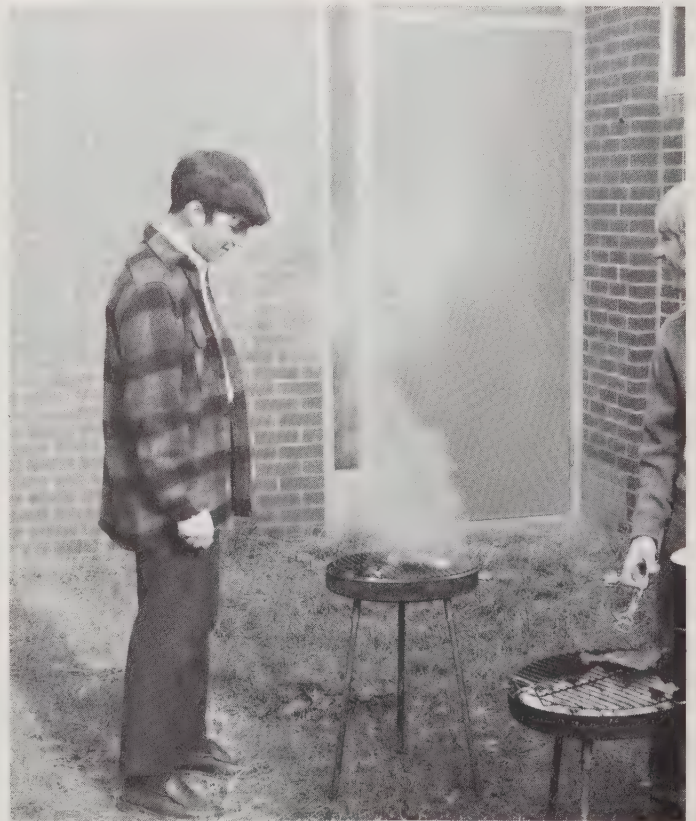

The boys' home economics class finds their efforts in homemaking very rewarding.

Ceramics proved to be an interesting sidelight to family life for Marcene Miles, Diane Jones, and Vivian Haith.

Claristine Crumpton and Margie Tate take the first step in sewing by trimming their patterns.

Steve Massey learns a cooking technique in preparation for a family life steak dinner.

AUTO MECHANICS — A VEHICLE FOR KNOWLEDGE

Dennis Mark enjoys finding trouble spots in cars and then repairing them.

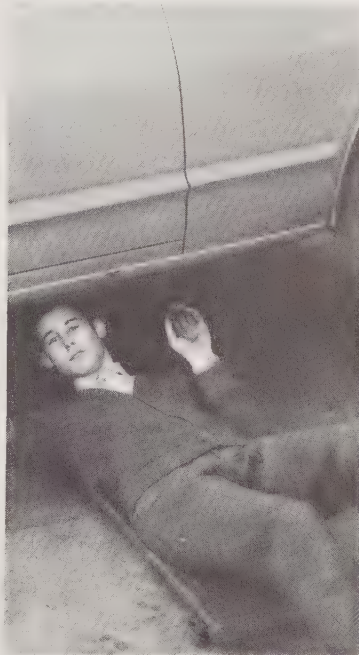

In this course students were given the opportunity to combine knowledge with practical experience. They learned how to use tools properly and how to repair cars and their parts. The maintenance of a car, both inside and out, was stressed.

Arnold Mebane repairs an engine as part of his classroom duties in auto mechanics.

Steve Ray finds the maintenance of the car's outside appearance to be important also.

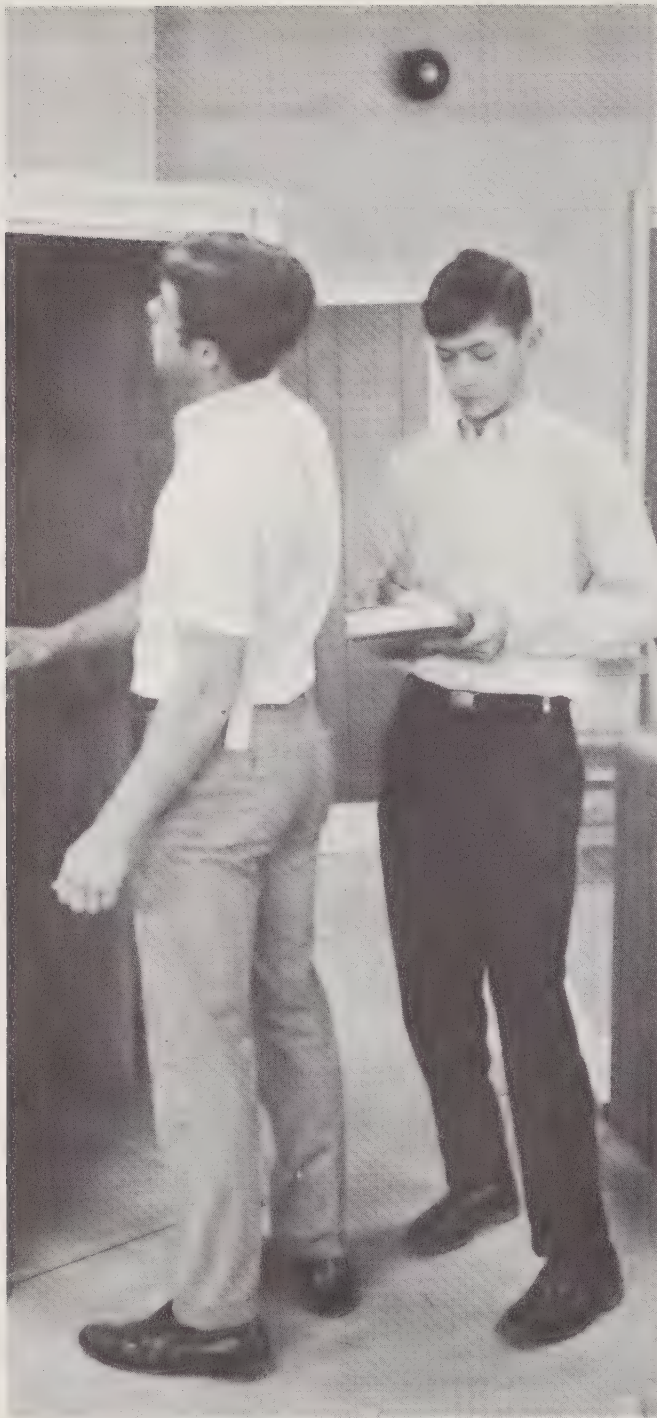

The world of auto mechanics extended under the car as well as under the hood for Warren Hook.

"Tinkering under the hood" was a fun, yet rewarding experience for Darrell Lynn.

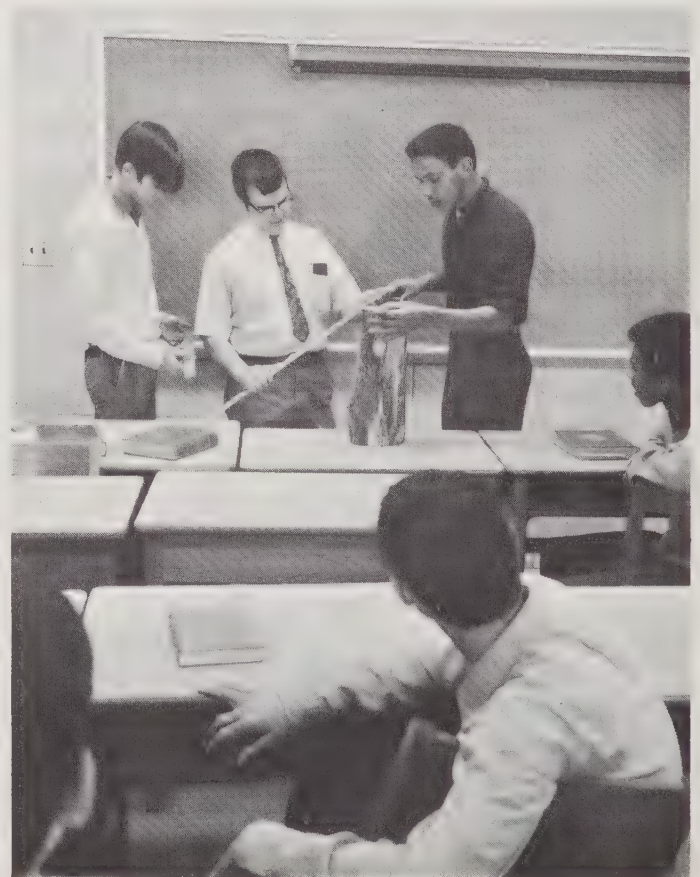

The skills of exact measurement and precise construction were gained by Robert Warren and Jerry Warren.

From the drafting course, Michael McCandies gained valuable experience that will be helpful in the coming years.

In forestry, Robert Fonville and Skip Hayes learned to determine the age of trees by measuring the distance between the rings.

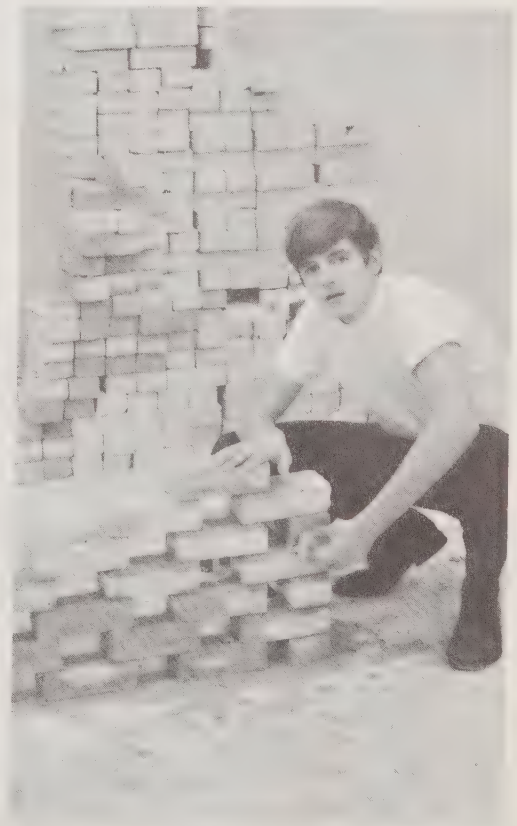

Carpentry students put classroom knowledge to work.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS —USEFUL SKILLS

The industrial courses offered this year were varied and numerous. Students achieved creative and practical craftsmanship by designing and building various articles in the drafting and carpentry classes. Bricklaying allowed the students to learn the useful trade of laying brick properly. In forestry and ornamental horticulture, students learned the planting, care, and conservation of trees, shrubs, and flowers. Through these industrial courses, students gained a feeling of personal accomplishment of manual dexterity, clear thought, and careful planning.

Debbie Maddox and Linda Glosson learn experimental techniques in ornamental horticulture.

Practice in bricklaying prepared Kenneth Alvis with experience for a future trade.

A CULTIVATION OF SELF-CONFIDENCE IN PHYSICAL SKILLS

All freshmen took a physical education and health course. In alternating between classroom and vigorous physical activity, students attained knowledge of good health habits and exercise. Physical Education II was offered to students who were interested in improving their dexterity.

Cynthia Dixon was a real "swinger."

Advanced physical education class allows the girls more opportunities for enjoyable competition.

The students participate in a vigorous game of basketball.

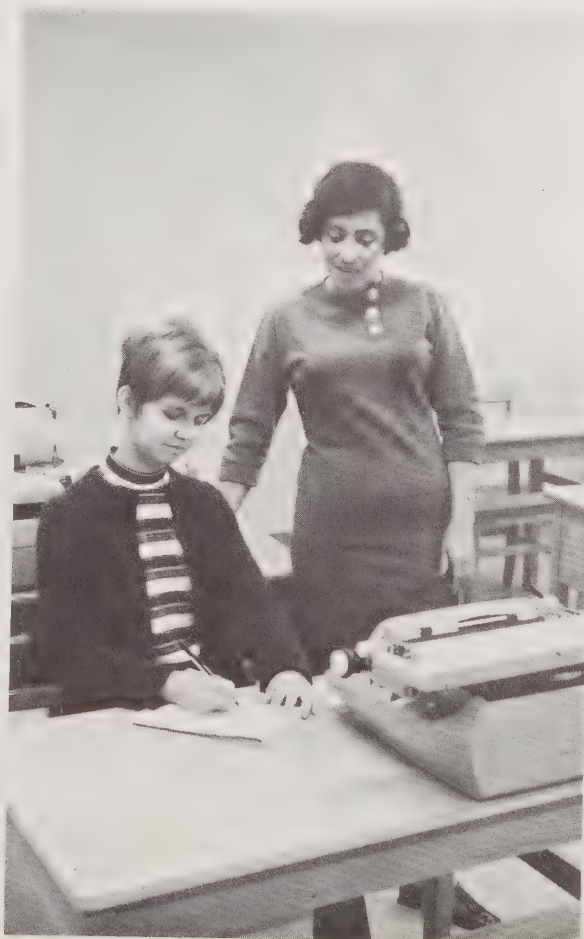

Pecolia Brown prepares for later office work by operating a calculator.

A COMBINATION OF THEORETICAL AND PRACTICAL KNOWLEDGE

Through the varied business courses offered, students obtained a vehicle for knowledge of the business world. This department acquainted students with the opportunities and advantages of a business career. They learned the skill of operating many types of business machines. Business students put their abilities to use by aiding teachers in typing and mimeographing duties.

Mimeographing tests for teachers gives Debbie Adams practical experience in the use of office machines.

Wanda Wilborn learns how to increase her speed in shorthand skills by taking dictation from Mrs. Dixon.

INSIGHT INTO SELF-EXPRESSION

A kaleidoscope of English literature and grammar provided students with insight into ideas of past and present. All types of literary work were studied with concentrations in American and English literature. Advanced composition, a new addition to English-related courses, guided students interested in creative writing toward their goals of effective self-expression.

Len Wade and Diane Anderson read lines from the drama THE YOUNG STRANGER in their study of American literature.

The dramatization of THE SQUIRE'S TALE by Louann Brown and Debbie Pendergrass added meaning and variety to THE CANTERBURY TALES.

Freshmen honors English students discuss paper backs they read as a supplement to their daily class work.

Nancy Corbett, Terry Ashley, Janet McKinney, and Laci Lashley prepared oral class discussions on social problems of today.

COMMUNICATION FOR BETTER UNDERSTANDING

Sharon Raines and Sheryl Stout discussed the traditional Spanish bull fights.

Extensive programs of French and Spanish placed stress upon grammar and literature. Headsets in the language labs also helped pupils to study difficult language mechanics and translations. Outside reading for advanced classes enabled students to study more about the customs and people of the countries.

Mrs. Smith made preparations with Debra Stanfield and Donna Wilson for Foreign Language Week.

SCIENCE PROBES SECRETS OF THE UNIVERSE

Many people realized for the first time this year the importance of scientific knowledge in this science-gear world. Students in physical science and biology received a general scientific background. They found experiments to be exciting and rewarding, and others discovered a whole new world hiding in the microscope. Students wishing to increase their scientific knowledge were given the opportunity to take chemistry, physics, and advanced biology. These advanced courses gave insight into why things occur as they do, and allowed students to delve deeper into the chemical and biological processes.

Mr. Rettig's bulletin board expresses an emotion common to us all.

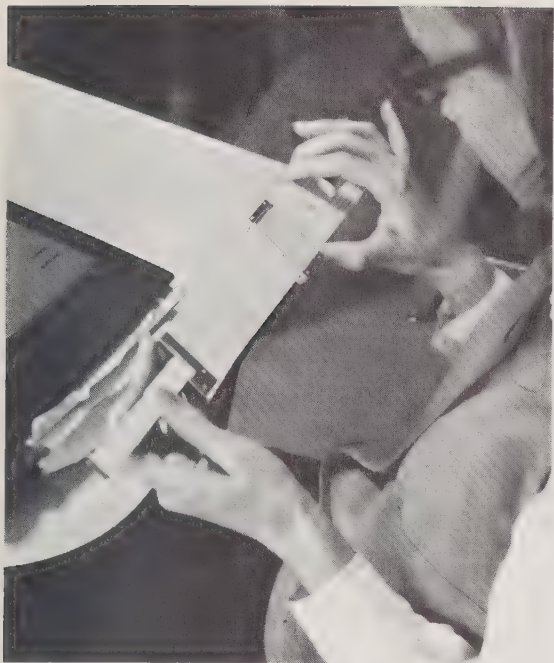

Ricky Williams and Clifton Degraffenreidt explain the complicated operation of a motor they helped construct to the class.

Lee Settle, Bob Hupman, and Alphonza Yellock rescue new additions to the biology department after the numerous baby fish were discovered.

MATH—A CHALLENGE IN SOLVING PROBLEMS

The math department is varied and has served to aid the student in mastering certain skills and concepts at all levels. Reasoning of the mind was improved after sleepless nights over unsolved problems. Math-related courses helped prepare the student for collegiate, commercial, and scientific mathematical fields.

Machone Jeffries learns to master the slide rule.

Tests show what students have learned!

Mr. Brady and Nancy White discuss a problem in math class.

In Memoriam

*There's an open gate at the end of the road, Through which each must go alone;
And there is a light we cannot see,
Our Father claims His own;
Beyond the Gate our loved one,
Finds happiness and rest;
And there is comfort in the thought,
That a Loving God knows best.*

Kingsdown has discovered a new way to make a better sleep set Unique "H-construction" is now used in both mattress and matching box springs. This new design technique puts heavier construction in the middle and along the edges where wear is greatest. And this is why the Kingsdown sleep set sleeps better and lasts longer.

The luxurious Kingsdown is just full of wonderful new ideas that provide the elegant comfort you need. Beautifully designed, beautifully constructed and beautifully covered, the new Kingsdown sleep set will help you enjoy more relaxed sleep. It's the only mattress with new Double-H-construction. And it's guaranteed for 15 years. Extra length at no extra cost.

MAIN BUILDING AND EXECUTIVE OFFICES OF UNIVERSAL TEXTURED YARNS

We at Universal Textured Yarns, Inc., have had another birthday. We're now two years old. And that birthdate was celebrated actually in November, which is the month, two years ago, in which we made our first shipment of finished yarn.

Ground was broken for our new plant in August 1967.

To get production rolling in the short period of time from August until November is a task in itself. We feel that, thanks to the dedication and hard work of our employees, we've been able to move much faster than many others would have.

Briefly recapped here is an outline of how far we've traveled in the relatively short time of two years.

When we were only 13 months old we embarked upon a $4 million expansion program which included the addition of 70,000 square feet of floor space to the existing 125,000, and a new executive office building. The addition constituted a total investment of $10 million.

There are now about 650 of us employed here at Universal.

Universal, under the leadership of G. Allen Mebane, president, was shipping 250,000 pounds of finished yarn each week even before the new addition, which increased capacity to 450,000 pounds a week.

The annual payroll is in excess of $2.75 million. That's a lot of money and a lot of jobs to add to the economy of any community . . . and we're doing it!

I love you
Butch I

Dearest Ida,

Your lips are like Honey, your eyes like stars,
Your figure like an hour glass, your skin like a brown satin dress. You are the sweetest thing that ever walked on two legs. I worship the very ground you walk on. Seriously, when all the fun and games are put away, everyone has to admit that you are very cute and sweet. It has really been an added attraction having you sitting in a desk in C-6 during sixth period. Remember these lines for the rest of your life — and people will call you a snob. — Now that I have your attention again, I would like to wish you and your mother, Carol Marshall, the very best of luck; the very best ~~you~~ there is.
